

Strictly Necessary Cookies

Name	Description	Expiration
apache	This cookie is set to provide a unique identification of the User and is passed back to the server with each subsequent request. The cookie allows us to distinguish between requests from multiple Users vs. multiple requests from the same User. The information is used by many features of the Content Management System as well as the systems responsible for protecting the website from abuse (e.g. a Denial of Service attack).	one "session" (i.e. until the browser is closed) cookie_option_shown	This cookie controls whether the "privacy options" tab has been shown to the user. The tab appears only once per session on the first page that the User lands on.	one "session" (i.e. until the browser is closed) privacy_preference	This cookie is set to record the fact that a User has opted to disable cookies.	1 year from set/update.
privacy_cookie_status	This cookie is set to record the fact that a User has opted to enable cookies.	1 year from set/update.